Mr. Ron Ferris
City Manager
City of Palm Beach Gardens
10500 N. Military Trail
Palm Beach Gardens, FL 33410

Dear Ron,

As you likely know, Chromalloy has completed development of our new corporate headquarters and Engineering Center of Excellence facility in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida. This new facility serves as a showcase for our global company, which provides advanced technologies across multiple industries.

Before and during the entire development process the City of Palm Beach Gardens – and every staff member we had the pleasure of working with – went above and beyond their normal duties to help us with the development of this facility.

Most importantly the assistance provided by the City of Palm Beach Gardens included reaching out and coordinating with the Business Development Board and Palm Beach County in an effort to orchestrate and condense the timeframe of the approvals necessary. Chromalloy had an aggressive timeframe to renovate an existing building and acquire funding from the City, County and State of Florida – and I'm pleased to report that the City's Targeted Expedited Permitting Program allowed us to meet our target deadlines for the approvals. Importantly, this made moving the company headquarters and beginning our day-to-day operation effortless.

Further, the City of Palm Beach Gardens was extremely resourceful and reasonable, and its due diligence guaranteed the approval process would go as smoothly as possible. The approval of the City's economic development incentive program and the City's local financial support for the State's QTI Program also ensured that Chromalloy could create 52 new full-time quality, high skill and high salary positions in the City of Palm Beach Gardens.

Instrumental in these efforts were Councilman Joseph Russo, Natalie Crowley, Director of Planning and Zoning, and Allyson Black, Resource Manager. We are grateful to this team of remarkable individuals and the entire City staff. Chromalloy chose Palm Beach Gardens because of the quality of life, business friendly climate – and the area being home to a large aerospace and engineering community.

We are truly appreciative of the efforts of you and your extraordinary staff – and we look forward to showing you our new headquarters and Center of Excellence soon.

Sincerely,

Armand F. Lauzon, Jr.
